DECEMBER

2008

Dear Families:

We held two assemblies in November - our Remembrance Day Assembly and a Celebration/Recognition assembly - and both of these were incredibly successful. Thank you to all who participated in the assemblies.

December is a month filled with generosity, compassion, and concern for others. General Byng students have been busy in a number of projects that exemplify these traits. Examples include: the Cold Card Company (see the headliner article http://www.canstarnews.com/page/story/the_headliner/3457), Room 11's contributions to The DREAM Project (<http://www.dominicandream.org/>), 7A's fundraising for world vision (<https://catalogue.worldvision.ca/Gifts>).

Congratulations to all volleyball players and coaches for their efforts during the volleyball season. We wish our basketball teams well as they begin their practices.

Interim reports were sent home on Tuesday, November 25 and we thank you for sending in your requests for Tri-Conferences, which will be held on December 11th and 12th.

If you have not yet had a chance to see our new web presence, please go to www.generalbyng.pbwiki.com where you will find school announcements, staff email addresses, class information, important dates, etc. We would appreciate receiving your feedback on our new web presence as well as our first electronic newsletter! Please send your comments to djuby@peminatrails.ca .

We look forward to seeing you at the conferences, concert, and other events prior to the winter break. On behalf of the entire General Byng staff, we thank you for your ongoing support and wish all of you the very best of the holiday season.

Sincerely,

Mr. D. Juby

BAND NEWS—MRS. CANTO

Several Grade 8 band students will be travelling to Lion's Manor with the Elementary Choir on Monday, December 8th. These students are currently preparing for this during their class time.

On behalf of all the band students at General Byng, we would like to invite you to our first concert of the year which will take place in the gym on Tuesday, February 10th, 2009 at 7:00pm. Come and enjoy all the band performances from grade 7, 8 and 9 Concert Bands and the Jazz Bands. A silver collection will be taken at the door with proceeds going towards band scholarships and other band related activities.

We are taking orders for the band shirts right now. An order form has been sent home with grade 7 students and those students in grade 8 and 9 that haven't purchased a shirt in previous years. These shirts, which feature a G.B. band logo designed by a former student, are worn for all band concerts and performances. The price of the shirts is $16.00 (please make cheques out to General Byng School). We hope as many students as possible will support this endeavour with proceeds going towards band scholarships. Students and parents should note that they will not be able to acquire a band shirt after the December 5th deadline.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION NEWS—Mrs. Wolfe and Mr. Scholz

We would like to welcome Mr. Scholz to the gym. He is here while Mrs. Pescitelli is on maternity leave.

Basketball is just around the corner! Practices for the grade 8 and 9 basketball teams are starting soon. Grade 7 basketball will begin after the winter break.

The track team is in full swing and working hard in practice. The team is working toward a great season with highlights that include some indoor and outdoor competitions and an upcoming trip to Regina in February.

A PAGE FROM THE LIBRARY

The Twilight series has kept the library hopping lately...we've just recently added the Twilight movie companion to our collection. Movie-wise we've also added a special adaptation for young readers of Marley and Me entitled Marley, A Dog Like No Other. Lemony Snicket has a new Christmas book out entitled, The Lump of Coal.....wherein "miracles can happen, even to those who are small, flammable, and dressed all in black." On a warmer note, we've also added the endearing sequel to The Kissing Hand, A Pocket Full of Kisses and another tender sequel, A Kiss Goodbye. Serially speaking we've got another Scaredy Squirrel....at the beach. If you've read Stanley's Party, you won't want to miss Stanley's Wild Ride. We've also got Owen and Mzee, the True Story of a Remarkable Friendship and of course its sequel; Owen and Mzee; the Language of Friendship.

Books may be signed out over the Christmas break by the grade 5 - 9's. Because it is a rather long period of time with much going on, we will be collecting the books from K - Gr. 4.

Got a book? Talk to Santa.

Food For Thought

News from the Foods Lab

Ms. B. McCann

With the holidays around the corner, the Grade nine cooks in the foods lab kitchen have been designing and planning gourmet gingerbread houses. Once completed, they will be on display during the tri-conferences. The new grade seven students discovered how to work the ovens and set their tables. They enjoyed making the Cheese Dreams and fruit cup. The grade eight students practiced accurate measuring skills when they baked Buttermilk scones with strawberry butter. Mr. G. enjoyed the leftovers too!

Baking cookies together can be a wonderful tradition for you to share with your children. Give everyone jobs like; getting the flour, stirring the batter or even washing the dishes. Playing festive music while you cook with your children really sets the mood, and they'll always remember baking gingerbread cookies when they hear the holiday favorites each year. Try these soft gingerbread cookies.

Soft Gingerbread Cookies

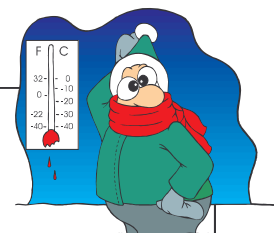

INGREDIENTS

- 180 ml molasses
- 75 g packed brown sugar
- 80 ml water
- 30 g butter, softened
- 405 g all-purpose flour
- 5 g baking soda
- 1 g ground allspice
- 2 g ground ginger
- 1 g ground cloves
- 1 g ground cinnamon

DIRECTIONS

1. In a medium bowl, mix together the molasses, brown sugar, water and butter until smooth. Combine the flour, baking soda, allspice, ginger, cloves and cinnamon; stir them into the wet mixture until all of the dry is absorbed. Cover the dough and chill for at least 3 hours. Preheat oven to 350 degrees F (175 degrees C).
2. On a lightly floured surface, roll the dough out to 1/4 inch thickness. Cut out into desired shapes. Place cookies 1 inch apart onto ungreased cookie sheets. Bake for 8 to 10 minutes in the preheated oven.
3. Remove from the cookie sheets to cool on wire racks.

COLD WEATHER

When we are facing colder temperatures, please ensure your child/children:
Dress warmly enough to be outside—warm boots, mitts, scarves, hats, ski pants.
Please time your child's arrival with our school entrance bells.

When the Wind Chill Index is -27° or lower, recess and outside lunch activities will take place indoors.

A REMINDER TO PARENTS AND PATROLS:
IF THE WINDCHILL IS -30°C PATROLS WILL BE ON DUTY
FOR ONLY 5 MINUTES BEFORE THE SCHOOL BELL RINGS.
WHEN TEMPERATURES, WITH THE WINDCHILL
DROPS BELOW -30°C PATROLS WILL NOT BE ON DUTY.

In the case of the school being closed, radio stations will be contacted to broadcast the announcements. During blizzards, parents should listen to the radio for information. The decision to close the school in the event of hazardous weather or other emergencies that may threaten the welfare of students rests with the Superintendent.

MUSIC NEWSLETTER

Greetings!

Our Christmas Season Concert will be held this year on Thursday, December 18 at 7pm in the gym. Please note that this concert is part of the regular school music curriculum, and all students are required to attend.

Our Elementary Grade 3-4 Choir will be doing a 'gig' at Lion's Manor Seniors Home along with some Junior High Band students on Monday, December 8 in the afternoon.

Our "Fun-Raiser" Spring Concert will be held this year at 7pm on Wednesday, April 22, 2009. We will be having our first "FUN-RAISER" meeting on Tuesday, January 6 at 3:30 pm in the MUSIC Room. Special thanks to our co-ordinators this year: Mrs. DeMoissac and Mrs. McDougall. !!

Our Silent Auction with individual classes is very successful. We hope to be doing that again this year. We will be asking the K-6 classes to be responsible to create 2 baskets each for the Silent Auction table. We will be looking for a parent from each classroom who would be willing to coordinate the items that parents donate for the baskets in your child's classroom. The items collected are not intended to be expensive. Each class will operate on a 'theme' for their baskets. More on this later. Our goal is to have a community involvement in gathering items for the Auction.

Our next PERFORMANCE DAY of the year will be on Tuesday, January 27 Day 4 for both 5-6 classes and 1-2 Mrs. Peterson. Wednesday January 28 Day 5 is for gr 1-2 Mr Palka and gr3-4 Ms Lessak and Mr McGregor. Students are encouraged to play an instruments, dance, and sing in front of their class.

VIDEO GAMES AND AGGRESSION
Miles A. Kowall Ph.D. & Ang Broadfoot M.Sc.

In the past number of years school psychologists have seen an alarming increase in the frequency of aggressive, violent behaviour in children. Such behaviour has been both physical and verbal in nature. This increase is not only found at the Junior and Senior High School levels but also seen at the Elementary School level. School psychologists are being asked to assess the reasons for the increase in angry outbursts directed toward peers as well as adults such as Teachers and Educational Assistants. The number of Risk and/or Threat Assessments has been on the increase across all levels of the education system. As parents, we want our children to develop a strong moral conscience and be able to see, understand, and accept other people's views especially if it doesn't agree with our own. This is called "empathy". It has been clearly shown that a lack of empathy results in a person being more likely to commit violent acts.

The ability of children to put themselves in the place of another and help to reduce that person's distress by using problem solving is the eventual development of empathy. Children become aware of other people's feelings between two to six years of age. By age seven to ten, children begin to understand what it is like to put themselves in the "other person's shoes". The ability to help the other person reduce distress begins to develop by ages eleven and twelve. Empathy is not inevitable and may never develop in some people. There are several factors which can impact on the development of empathy, such as family role models, peer influence and exposure to violence in the home and to violent media. This article will speak to the known effects of violent media.

Research has shown that children who watch violent television programs and who identify with aggressive television characters and believe the violence is real, are most at risk for later aggression. While the effects of T.V. violence have been well documented, one area of research that is receiving more and more investigation is the effect of violent video games such as Doom, Manhunt, and Grand Theft Auto on the aggressive behaviour of children. Violent video games might have an even stronger effect than violent television or movies. This may occur because video games are highly engaging and interactive, they reward violent behaviour, and children repeat the behaviour over and over the more that they play.

This is exactly the same way teachers attempt to encourage more positive behaviour and effective learning. Teachers want to make the learning of material attractive and exciting; they reward appropriate learning (grades on exams and report cards, stickers in the younger grades, "Caught You Caring" Programs which occurs in some schools in the Pembina Trails School Division) and they will repeat a topic until it is learned. In other words, video games can be excellent teachers. Perhaps violent video games are not as harmless as one might expect.

While it is difficult to prove that violent video games cause aggression and violent behaviour, research has shown that playing violent video games is related to having more aggressive thoughts, feelings, and behaviours. Also, playing violent video games is also associated with children "being less willing to be caring and helpful towards their peers". In other words, the more often children play video games their feeling about violence in general goes up while their level of empathy goes down.

Another study found that teenagers who have non-aggressive personalities but play a lot of violent video games are almost 10 times more likely to get into a physical fight than teens that don't play games. Children who play more violent video games seem to view the world as being more hostile and tend to get into more arguments with teachers, get into more fights and do more poorly in school. Another feature of violent video games is its negative image of females. Most video games show males as being dominant while females are shown as the victim, weaker and in need of help.

So what is going on here? How can this increased level of violence be explained? After all, don't teenagers at least know reality from fantasy? New research on the brain called "video-game neurology" suggests that this may not be the case. Video-game neurology has shown that the brain treats entertainment violence as something real and stores this violence as long-term memories, which could have lasting and harmful effects on behaviour. This would mean that playing video games can make a child think or believe violence is all right. The natural human response to blood, gore, and violence is to turn away. Repeated exposures to violence and violent images seem to reduce that natural instinct.

While critics argue that many of the subjects in the research articles were adults and showed no "serious" effects of playing violent video games; it has been agreed that the brains of children are more impressionable and the earlier they play such games the greater the effect on their brain. Some people will say this research is ridiculous and an over-reaction. The same was said years ago about the dangers of smoking. Since governments are not willing to regulate the renting or selling of these violent games, it must be up to parents to watch what their children are playing. Parents need to make a decision as to whether the risk that the negative influence of these games may cause is worth allowing them to keep their child busy and occupied.

WALKING TO SETAGAYA UPDATE

Many of the staff have strapped on pedometers to calculate how many steps they take during their day at General Byng. The early years students have contributed significantly to our overall total. The middle years students, largely thanks to the outdoor education students, have also added to the total number of kilometres walked.

(Drum roll please.....)

As of November 19th, we have walked 1991 kms. We are on track to meeting our goal of walking 8987 km to Setagaya by the end of June.
